

MENU FOR THE FUTURE

A discussion inviting you to learn more about modern food systems and to reflect upon your own role as eaters in a global food marketplace.

You are invited to join in an examination of the effects of modern industrial agriculture on both human and ecological health, explore emerging food system alternatives, and discuss how we as individuals can contribute to a more sustainable food supply.

WHEN? – Tuesdays, March 6, March 20, and April 3, 2012, from 3 to 4:30 pm

WHERE? – at the Marstons Mills Public Library

WHO? – Sheila Place will lead the discussion. YOUR responsibility is to sign up, and to participate!

Topics to be covered are:

March 6: What's Eating America?

Anonymous Food

March 20: Farming for the Future

You Are What You Eat

April 3: Towards a Just Food System

Choices for Change

Enrollment is limited. Come to the Library at 2160 Main St., Marstons Mills, or call to sign up. Call the Marstons Mills Public Library 508-428-5175 ext. 15 for more information or check the website for updates: www.mmpl.org